EDITORIAL

Fatimiyah Education Network (FEN) started off in 1965 in a small flat in Kharadar. Today by the Grace of God, FEN is now ranked as one of the largest education Institutes of Karachi. During this journey of spreading knowledge in society and community, lots of difficulties were faced. But due to the persistent planning and tireless effort, today this institute is progressing towards creation of a prestigious University. Our motto is to create quality educational institutes where students are provided with a healthy educational environment. Our main focus is character and personality building of students along with providing quality education. These objectives distinguish us from other institutes where commercialization is the order of the day. Our aim is to educate a generation which is religiously sound, capable, practical and good citizens of society. Their focus should not be to gain financial stability through education. Rather, they should use their knowledge in improving community, larger community, country and nation both spiritually and economically. The success of FEN can be analyzed by remarkable success and growth of the institution.
